

Sara Beatriz Louzan Rossi

Migration and Education: forming teachers specialists in Migration

Degree in Psychology in UBA – Buenos Aires University, 1976. Degree in Clinic Psychology in Pontifica Universidad Catolica Argentina, 1984. Also graduated as University Professor in Instituto Superior de Profesorado Joaquín V. González. Degree in psychoanalysis in CIPEA, Centre of Psychological research on Accident Prevention. Master in Neurolinguistic Programming in the First Institute of Neurolinguist. 1993´

Member of the Health Committee of BPW International 2011-2014/ 2014-2017

Vicepresident of BPW Argentina

Vicepresident of BPW Buenos Aires

President of Federacion de Intercambio Civicosocial

Member of AIEMPR, Asociacion Internacional de Estudios Medicos, Psicologicos y Religiosos

SARA LOUZAN ROSSI has worked on the issues of Cardiovascular diseases and Obesity paying particular attention to children and young migrants and introducing in her project two more particular strategies of great current importance. The project, which aims to promote a new culture linked to a proper nutrition and physical activity, involved specialists in cardiology, psychology, psychiatry and trainers for physical activity, since the beginning .

•Exclusion and Inclusion is difficult on the theme of how humans build their identity. We belong to families, religions peoples, races, nations languages. In the new country, there is an initial moment of exclusion, in which we discover, enjoy and affirm every thing that is exclusive to us, and make us different from OTHERS.